

SOUTH WEST EXTREME ENERGY GATHERING

SATURDAY 01 FEBRUARY 2014

12:00PM - 4.30PM, HAMILTON HOUSE,
STOKES CROFT, BRISTOL

Capitalism's insatiable appetite for cheap energy is leading to increasingly harmful & desperate forms of energy extraction. Big business is scraping the bottom of the barrel to access depleting resources, from mountain top removal to burning foreign forests for electricity.

In the South West, Heliuss Energy are seeking to raise investment this Spring to take forward their plans to build a 100 MW biomass power station in Avonmouth. It will burn 1 million tonnes green tonnes of imported wood a year, driving deforestation, biodiversity loss and being worse for the climate than the fossil fuels it replaces.

Hinkley C Nuclear Power Station near Bridgwater continues to threaten future generations & forms a part of Government plans to build 50 more nuclear power stations despite devastating pollution in Japan.

Meanwhile, 650 square km of Somerset is threatened by fracking & coal bed methane extraction. At the same time South Wales is carved up for exploration, including Underground Coal Gasification, while open-cast mines remain open.
